At Caughman Raod we want to create a culture of "Reading for Pleasure"

There are Book Nooks in the hallways near your children's classrooms. We want to encourage students to TAKE A BOOK and read it.

SHARE A BOOK by doing a short book review

RETURN THE BOOK to the book nook, and the book review to their teacher.

Each month we will randomly select 4 students book reviews. These students will be featured on social media and on the morning news show.

Books will be available for students to borrow from the book nooks on Monday September 12th. Please encourage your kids to Read for Pleasure
