For students:

Attention Junior girls, American Legion Auxiliary Palmetto Girls State is coming this summer! ALA PGS is a weeklong summer program designed to immerse you in a real, functioning government, in the mythical State of Palmetto. You'll meet lots of new friends from across the state, and you may even be eligible for some college scholarships! Be sure to see name for your application today. Applications are due insert deadline here.

For parents, faculty, others:

The 76th annual session of the American Legion Auxiliary Palmetto Girls State is now accepting applications for delegate selection. Each year, ALA PGS is held to provide a unique forum for the state's rising high school senior girls to learn about government and the political process. This year's ALA PGS will be held on the campus of Presbyterian College in Clinton, SC, from Sunday, June 11, to Saturday, June 17. ALA PGS allows young women to expand their leadership skills and meet other outstanding young women from across the state. Some delegates even form lifelong bonds from their time at ALA PGS.

It is an honor to be selected as a delegate to American Legion Auxiliary Palmetto Girls State. The American Legion and its Auxiliary sponsor Boys and Girls State to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship. State programs are held nationally, and alumni of these programs are known and recognized nationwide for their academic achievement and civic leadership. Many alumni of Palmetto Boys and Girls States have gone on to successfully run for local and state office in South Carolina. Colleges and universities also offer scholarships to Boys and Girls State alumni.

Applications are available now from school contact's name and office number. Applications are due insert deadline here. If you have any questions about ALA PGS or the application process, please contact school contact name and info.
